1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy is to establish the framework, standards, and responsibilities of the Orlando Police Department Chaplains Program. The program is designed to provide emotional, moral, and spiritual support to department personnel, their families, and members of the community during times of crisis or need. This policy outlines the classifications, qualifications, duties, and expectations of chaplains serving in a volunteer capacity, ensuring consistent and ethical service delivery aligned with the Department's mission and values. The Chaplain Program is an extension of the Volunteer Program (Policy 2206).

2. POLICY

The Chaplains Program has been established within the Department to provide emotional, moral, and spiritual assistance and support to employees requesting it, and to assist the Department with victims and the families of victims when deemed necessary.

The code of confidentiality shall exist when privileged information is discussed. Chaplains have no police authority and shall not at any time take enforcement action or represent themselves as sworn police officers.

3. DEFINITIONS

Confidentiality- A principle that protects the privacy of conversations between individuals and chaplains, ensuring that what is shared remains confidential. This means chaplains cannot disclose details of these conversations to anyone else without the explicit permission of the person who shared the information. This protection is rooted in the understanding that individuals need a safe space, except any behavior that requires mandatory reporting to relevant authorities exists.

Ecclesiastical Certification- A professional credential that affirms to an employer that a person in chaplaincy is, or will be, performing a valid ministry of the church, and has presented evidence of calling and training for that ministry. Ecclesiastical Endorsement means that the candidate is a member or minister of the church in good standing and has completed appropriate training for the specialized ministry.

Ordained or Licensed Minister- The individual has been formally recognized and authorized by a religious body or denomination to perform ministerial duties, according to that body's established procedures. This can involve ordination, commissioning, or licensing, depending on the specific religious tradition. They possess the authority to conduct religious worship, perform sacerdotal functions (sacred duties like officiating at weddings, funerals, etc.), and administer ordinances or sacraments according to the doctrines of their church or denomination.

4. PROCEDURES

4.1 EMPLOYEE PERSONAL NEEDS

In the event, an employee feels the need to consult with a member of the clergy, a listing of Chaplains by denomination will be available in the Communications Division, and Community Relations Division. After hours, the on-call Chaplain will be available through the Communications Division. The code of confidentiality will exist when privileged information is discussed, except where a crime against children or the elderly, domestic violence, or any behavior that requires mandatory reporting to relevant authorities exists.

Employees who obtain information concerning the hospitalization or death of another employee or a member of an employee's family are encouraged to contact the Chaplain representative within their division or section. This information will be forwarded to the Chaplains.

4.2 CALL-OUT PROCEDURES

An employee encountering a victim of a crime or a family member of a crime victim needing the services of a Chaplain may initiate the request upon the approval of a supervisor. Communications personnel will notify the on-call Chaplain.

The Community Involvement Section Commander will prepare an on-call schedule of Chaplains and provide copies to the Communications Division, Community Relations Division, and Fiscal Management Section.
